Verdict for Dr. Pierce

AGAINST THE

Ladies' Home Journal.

Sending truth after a lie. It is an old maxim that "a lie will travel seven leagues while truth is getting its boots on," and no doubt hundreds of thousands of good people read the unwarranted and malicious attack upon Dr. R. V. Pierce and his "Favorite Prescription" published in the May (1904) number of the Ladies' Home Journal, with its great black display headings, who never saw the humble, groveling retraction, with its inconspicuous heading, published two months later. It was boldly charged in the slanderous and libelous article that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of woman's weaknesses and ailments, contained alcohol and other harmful ingredients. Dr. Pierce promptly brought suit against the publishers of the Ladies' Home Journal, for $200,000.00 damages.

Dr. Pierce alleged that Mr. Bok, the editor, maliciously published the article containing such false and defamatory matter with the intent of injuring his business; furthermore, that no alcohol, or other injurious, or habit-forming, drugs are, or ever were, contained in his "Favorite Prescription"; that said medicine is made from native medicinal roots and contains no harmful ingredients whatever, and that Mr. Bok's malicious statements were wholly and absolutely false.

In the retraction printed by said journal they were forced to acknowledge that they had obtained analyses of "Favorite Prescription," from eminent chemists, all of whom certified that it did not contain alcohol or any of the alleged harmful drugs.

These facts were also proven in the trial of the action in the Supreme Court. But the business of Dr. Pierce was greatly injured by the publication of the libelous article with its great display headings, while hundreds of thousands who read the wickedly defamatory article never saw the humble groveling retraction, set in small type and made as inconspicuous as possible. The matter was, however brought before a jury in the Supreme Court of New York State which promptly rendered a verdict in the Doctor's favor. Thus his traducers came to grief and their base slanders were refuted.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., [illegible]

THE FACTS OF HISTORY.

I dislike a newspaper controversy and never allow myself to be drawn into an extended one, but as Brother Carpenter has attempted to refute my statements in regard to the status of the early Virginia colonists and the usages and influences of their legally established church and the intolerant spirit of the people of those times, I cannot in justice to myself refrain from quoting some of the laws passed by the Virginia State assemblies for the maintenance of one particular form and kind of public worship throughout the colony to the entire exclusion of all others.

The laws of a people enacted by their chosen representatives may be safely taken, I think, as an index of the popular will and wishes of that people. By this criterion, may we not form a correct estimate of the desire of the colonists to establish a home for religious liberty. From the first settlement of the province in 1607 to the death of Charles the First of England and the commencement of the commonwealth under Cromwell thereupon ensuing, a uniformity to the doctrines and discipline of the Church of England was strictly enjoined by the law making powers. All Catholics were disabled from holding any office, and any popish priest who had the temerity to set his foot on the Virginia soil was to be banished within five days. For him there was no welcome, no right hand of fellowship (see Hennings statutes vol 1, page 269). All persons of whatever belief were required to attend church worship—in default for the first offense one pound of tobacco, and for one month's non attendance fifty pounds. All male citizens of the age of sixteen were required to pay tithes for the maintenance of the established worship. Each clergyman was allowed a salary of sixteen hundred pounds of tobacco yearly. All persons refusing to have their children baptized by the clergyman, for each offense were compelled to pay a fine of two thousand pounds of tobacco. All Quakers for assembling in public meetings in their own houses or elsewhere were fined one hundred pounds of tobacco, and if not able to pay the fine it was assessed upon and collected from any one of the sect who could pay. No master nor commander of any ship or other vessel could bring into the colony any Quaker under the penalty of one hundred pounds sterling, to be levied upon him or his estate by order of the Governor and Council. All Quaker's who arrived in the settlements were to be apprehended wherever found and imprisoned without bail or mainprise to adjure the country, depart from the shores and not return again. If they returned they were to be sent out again. If they returned the third time they were to be proceeded against as felons. Was this religious liberty? Again, no person was to entertain a Quaker, or permit in or near his house an assembly of Quakers for worship under the penalty of one hundred pounds sterling. No person under peril was to purchase any Quaker book or pamphlet.

These Quakers had fled from one of the most vindictive persecutions of any age of the world. In England, the land of Great "Magna Charta" and the boasted "Common Law" they had been driven from pillar to post, imprisoned in noisome dungeons along with fellons on account of their opinions, and stoned and beaten by the populace, scourged and pilloried, in a word, deprived of the protection of all law and justice until every man's hand was against them to make their condition pitiable in the extreme. To escape these rigors they came to Virginia only to be thrust out as aliens and vagabonds. They found no home of religious liberty.

In 1642, it was ordered that the "governor and Council do take care that all non-conformists to the established church shall be compelled to depart the colony."

In 1640 three clergymen were sent from the Massachusetts Bay colony with the recommendation of the governor of that province to preach to the Virginia people, but as they did not conform to the usages of the established church they were commanded, by order of Governor Berkeley, to depart. There was no religious liberty for them, Puritanism could not take any hold on Virginia soil. As late as 1753 no Catholic could be a witness in any court. Not until after 1700 was any Quaker allowed to affirm. There was not the shadow of religious liberty in Virginia until after the "toleration act" in the reign of King William and Mary, near a hundred years after the landing of Captain John Smith and his companions. Until 1705 no Catholic was allowed to be a witness. Such was the letter and spirit of some of the early Virginia laws in regard to religious toleration. In 1663 John Potter, a member of the House of Burgesses, for his kindly leaning toward the Quakers and his opposition to the baptism of infants was expelled from his position and subjected to indignities. Sir William Berkeley, Governor of Virginia for thirty-six years, and a high churchman "thanked God that there were no free schools nor printing in Virginia and hoped there would be none for these hundred years." He said "the clergy would be better if they prayed oftener and preached less." In 1682 printing was prohibited. Just previous to the American Revolution the Baptists who had been allowed a precarious citizenship and were struggling under exactions of the government and the hierarchy found an earnest champion in Patrick Henry, of great and glorious memory, who championed their cause in the courts and opened the way for their recognition. No, Brother Carpenter, full religious liberty did not exist in the province of Virginia until by the influences of George Mason, Thomas Jefferson and George Washington the Episcopal Church was disestablished.

Let brother Carpenter construe the early laws of Virginia as he may, they remain on the statute books as an incontrovertable evidence that the Virginia colonists never intended to open their province as a home for any sect or class who desired to flee from persecution. My friend imagines in his reply that I am not an Episcopalian. No, I am not, but I suppose it is because I did not happen to be born and brought up in that way.

Most people in the world are the inculcation and development of their religious status to heredity or environments on both. I am not a member of any religious sect, I have kept the bars down so that I could affiliate with all denominations about me. So that I might have charity for all of them and malice for none. In Jewish Synagogue, in pagan temple, in Mohamedan mosque and Romish cathedral I have mingled with devotees without jealousy or prejudice. Religious prejudice I consider the silliest and most unnatural of all prejudices and it will be a welcome day to the world when all sectarian differences shall disappear from among mankind before the coming of that universal gospel of peace on earth and good will to all which Christ came to teach and establish so many hundred years ago.

Our ancestors made mistakes, many of them, and we need not wonder that they did, considering the world had not then emerged from the darkness and superstition which had so long enshrouded it, but now we are moving along better lines and higher planes of development. The Episcopalians of Virginia in their zeal to maintain their own peculiar way of thinking and worship had not yet advanced to that more sensible consideration which acknowledges the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

In concluding my communications on the facts of history, I trust no reader who has followed my statements will accuse me of having been actuated by any adverse sectional feeling or animosity. Virginia has been my adopted home for nearly fifty years. Through that time I have striven in humble way to do my part for the promotion of the general welfare of the good old commonwealth. All my relations with the Virginia people have been of the most friendly nature and I trust they will so continue while I live among them. If my friend, Mr. Carpenter, wishes to verify my statements let him refer to Henning's statutes of Virginia, vol. 1 and vol. 2.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 4, 1907.

A GENTLEMAN of this city who was in Richmond yesterday and witnessed the parade in connection with the unveiling of the monument to the memory of Jefferson Davis was no little interested in seeing a number of venerable colored men, clothed in Confederate gray, walking in the procession. In one instance a very old darkey was being assisted along by grandchildren of his former master. It has often been observed by speakers at Confederate gatherings that the colored people of ante bellum days were an entirely separate and distant genus from the great majority of the race of the present day and were understood and respected by the white race. They were born and reared among white people and partook in a large measure of their spirit. When the men of the South were called upon to take up arms and repel those who had invaded their states they left their wives and sisters on plantations under the protection of colored men, none of whom were known to betray their trust. How different now, when white women in certain rural portions of the country are in as much danger as when Indians were prowling in the neighborhood of their homes. The negroes of the present generation could learn much from their ancestors.

THE surgeons of Cooper Hospital of Camden, N. J., effected a quick cure a day or two ago upon Miss Grace McGinnis, twenty-two years old, of Philadelphia. She was brought to the hospital feigning hysterics and raved about losing a ring. After the young woman had supposedly become unconscious one of the surgeons who thought she was shamming said to another: "It is too bad. We'll have to cut off her right leg to save her life." Without waiting to hear more, Miss McGinnis sprang up and made a dash for the door. She ran across the green and boarded a trolly car for her home.

WHEN IT became known last week that Attorney General Bonaparte would adhere to his recent ruling about what constitutes real or "straight" whisky, wholesalers received notice that all straight whisky bottled in bond would hereafter be retailed at an increase of from 20 to 25 per cent. The only justification for this advance appears to be that the makers of straight whisky believe they can get the increased price. The blended whisky makers have served notice that they will fight the Bonaparte decision in the courts, but this will take a year.

MANY will be the cries of "Puritanism!" sent up at the news that Kansas law now forbids most public amusements on Memorial Day. But says the New York Tribune "Puritanism" in this instance is better than cheap and nasty diversions. Kansas may have gone too far, but many Americans have been greatly irritated by the wanton vulgarities of misguided pleasure seekers, to whom "Decoration Day" means only an opportunity to paint the town red.

LEWIS EMERY, of Atlantic City, says that the earth has been jolted out of its orbit by the recent succession of earthquakes, and that the real cause of the present cold snap is that we are undergoing a change of seasons. Well, something has happened, and Mr. Emery, if not the earth, may have been jolted.

PRESIDENT MONROE once sent a vigorous message to Congress taking a stand exactly opposite to President Roosevelt's view of federal control of roads in the States. But what cares Mr. Roosevelt? He holds to neither precept nor example.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, June 4.

The Weather Bureau today issued a report on the unusual conditions of temperature in the past week. It says: "Except in the Florida peninsula and the far west, the abnormally cold weather that has been so pronounced a feature over most of the country during the past two months continued throughout the past week, although the deficiency in temperature has been less marked in Minnesota and North Dakota, where the week was the most favorable of the season thus far. The abnormally cold weather was decidedly unfavorable throughout the central valleys and the Atlantic coast and gulf districts. Light to heavy frosts were general in the lake region, Ohio valley, New England, the middle Atlantic States, light frosts occurring as far south as western North Carolina, northern Alabama and Arkansas. Portions of the lower Ohio valley, southern Louisiana, and a large part of Texas suffered from very heavy rains, which caused destructive freshets. While in Richmond Sunday Mr. William Jennings Bryan said: "I haven't felt it was yet time to decide whether or not I will be a candidate for the presidency. In the Police Court yesterday he was ordered to give security for six months. He went to jail in default.

Judge Loving's Case.

A letter from Richmond says: With the removal of the case of Judge William G. Loving from Nelson county to Houston, Halifax county, the feeling against Judge Loving is manifesting itself. Lawyers in this city seem inclined to disagree with Judge Barksdale in granting bail to the accused man, and there are few who venture the assertion that the unwritten law, so-called, if invoked by Judge Loving, will operate to save him from the penitentiary. It is true, of course, that the statement made by Miss Loving to her mother and by her repeated to her husband is a secret which only the three know, but there is no reason to believe that any act was committed by young Estes by which he forfeited his life. Women folks who have a way of finding out things have imparted this information to their husbands, and there is nothing and has been nothing to indicate that Estes did the least thing for which he could have been subjected to the indignity of a blow. The view in this city, but with only one side of the case partly known, is that Judge Loving had made a very serious and miserable mistake. It is not thought that the trial can last more than a week.

THE DAVIS MONUMENT.

In a flood of brilliant sunshine the greatest reunion in the history of the United Confederate Veterans came to a close in Richmond yesterday, when an imposing granite and bronze monument to Jefferson Davis, the first and only President of the Confederate States of America, was unveiled in the presence of a multitude of enthusiastic people. As the draperies, drawn by Mrs. J. A. Hayes, daughter of the Confederate president, assisted by two of his grandchildern, fell from the stately statue, the presidential salute of 21 guns was thundered from the throats of a long line of cannon on one side and a great cheer that went echoing far up and down the beautiful avenue burst from the assembled thousands. The veterans of the Confederate army, who composed the great body of the splendid procession swung their hats in the air, yelled and cheered in ecstasies of joy.

Distinguished men and women from many of the States of the union, beautiful young girls and battle-scarred old soldiers, white men and black men joined in the enthusiasm. The leading figures in the picturesque procession were Gen. Stephen D. Lee, commander of the veterans; Governor Swanson, of Virginia, William Jennings Bryan, Mrs Stonewall Jackson, Mrs. Simon B. Buckner, Mrs. Swanson, the wife of the Governor of Virginia; Mrs. Hayes, daughter of Jefferson Davis; Governor Warfield, of Maryland, and Miss Mary Custis Lee. To each and every one of them were hurled cheers and hurrahs. As stated yesterday the principal speakers were Gov. Swanson and Gen. Clement E. Evans.

When the addresses had been concluded the benediction was pronounced by Chaplain-General Jones and a chorus of amens swept over the multitude that marked the actual close of the greatest reunion of Confederate Veterans that ever has been or will be held. It is said that there never has been, since the war ended, so many of the actual surviving soldiers of the Confederate army together, and it is realized by everyone that this number will never be equaled again. Death has within the last few years rapidly thinned their ranks. It is officially estimated that there were in Richmond during the reunion between 10,000 and 12,000 veterans.

The monument of Jefferson Davis is the work of E. V. Valentine and William C. Noland, of Richmond. The memorial consists of a semicircular colonnade, terminating at each end in a square pier, with a large column or shaft rising from the inclosed space. The semicircle is about 50 feet across, with a depth of 30 feet, and stands 67 feet in total height. The monument typifies the vindication of Mr. Davis and the cause of the Confederacy, for which he stood before the world, the leading inscription being "Deo Vindice." The colonnade, composed of 18 Doric columns, besides the 2 end piers, rises about 18 feet above the walkway and has its frieze decorated with bronze seals of the 11 states that seceded and the three others that sent representatives and troops. In the center of the space inclosed by the colonnade stands a large Doric column over five feet in diameter. This column forms a background for the bronze figure of Mr. Davis, and also carries on its top an allegorical bronze figure, whose right hand points to heaven, and whose title. "Vindicatrix," represents the whole spirit of the movement. The large column bears the seal of the Confederacy in bronze, and has the inscription, "Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, 1861-1865."

The bronze figure of Mr. Davis stands on a great block of granite in front of the column, and about 12 feet above the roadway. The president is represented in a standing position, as though addressing an audience, with his right hand resting on the open book of history.

Around the molding is traced a noteworthy extract from Mr. Davis's farewell speech when he resigned from the United States Senate on the secession of Mississippi.

Not in hostility to others, not to injure any section of the country, not even for our own pecuniary benefit, but for the high and solemn motive of defending and protecting the rights we inherited, and which it is our duty to transmit unshorn to our children."

On the points of the colonnade stand bronze tablets—one to the army and one to the navy of the Confederacy. The army tablet is inscribed: "From Sumter to Appomattox—four years of unflinching struggle against overwhelming odds." The navy tablet is inscribed: "Giving new examples of heroism, teaching new methods of warfare, it carried the flag of the South to the most distant seas."

Robbery and Arson.

Short in his accounts and expecting the arrival of an auditor of his company, George P. Decker, agent for the United States Express Company at Old Point Comfort, yesterday morning robbed the safe in his office and set fire to the federal pier, on which the office was located. All efforts to save the pier house or any part of its contents were in vain, and the structure was totally destroyed.

All books and papers, large quantities of freight and express, and other valuable property was destroyed, and at this time it is impossible to estimate the loss. Decker was suspected, and about noon yesterday Chief Detective Bradford, who was sent to Newport News by the Secret Service Bureau in connection with the Jamestown Exposition, took the young man in custody. No charge was preferred at the time and the arrest was kept secret, but yesterday afternoon Decker broke down and made a complete confession.

The prisoner admits that he was short in his accounts, and that he learned Saturday that an auditor was coming to examine his books. He took $60 in cash from the safe and, it is understood, placed the books where they would be sure to burn. Decker is twenty-one years old, and came from Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

The city awoke to find huge placards posted at many places warning the government against bomb outrages if the alleged conspirators are condemned. The police removed the cards, but their appearance served to give the whole city a scare. It is feared an attempt may be made to blow up the building where the trial is being held.

Bryan on Roosevelt.

Mr. W. J. Bryan, who addressed a large audience at the Young Men's Christian Association in Richmond Sunday, yesterday afternoon and again at the Auditorium last night, was a guest, while in the city, of Governor Swanson at the executive mansion.

In an interview at the mansion, in which he discussed the leading questions of the day, including his position on government ownership of railroads, Mr. Bryan said that the only condition upon which he would consider the question of again becoming a candidate for the presidency would be whether he could advance the cause of democracy by becoming a candidate. Mr. Bryan refused to go as far as to commit himself to a southern man for the nomination, saying that the question is one of availability—the man must fit the platform, no matter from what section he comes.

Mr. Bryan, politically speaking thinks that President Roosevelt is something of a doctrinal hybrid—part democrat and part republican.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

City Democratic Committee.

The city democratic committee met last night at the Hotel Fleischmann. Mr. Charles Bendheim, the chairman, presided, and Messrs. E. F. Thompson, Oscar Phillips, R. T. Cook, S. G. Brent and O. F. Carter were present.

Two vacancies in the committee were announced—one in the Second ward, caused by the resignation of Mr. G. E. Price, and the other in the Third ward, by reason of the death of George L. Simpson.

Mr. Cook nominated Mr. Louis Brill as committeeman from the Second ward, and there being no other nominations, he was declared the unanimous choice of the committee.

Mr. Brent nominated Mr. S. P. Fisher to fill the vacancy in the Third ward, and he was also elected by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Cook presented the following resolutions, which were adopted by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That the regular democratic judges of election, together with the registrar of each ward, shall be the judges at the democratic primary election to be held June 19. The clerks of election of each ward shall be named by the judges of each ward as has heretofore been the custom.

Resolved, In the event that any of the judges may for any reason not beable to act, the chairman of the committee, together with the committeemen of the ward in which the vacancy may occur, are here by authorized and empowered to fill such vacancy.

Be it further resolved, That any or all of the candidates for Congress shall have the right to have one friend in each voting precinct during the day of election and during the counting of the ballots, the name of such friend of each candidate to be given to the chairman of the committee two days before the election.

The committee then adjourned.

Test of Fishing Law.

Is a man who, standing on the Virginia shore of the Potomac, opposite the District of Columbia, dips fish with a net or seine from the river punishable under the fish law of the District of Columbia?

That is the question which is soon to be tested by interested fishermen of Alexandria county, for which the preliminary steps were taken in the Police Court in Washington Saturday. A charge of violating the fish law of the District of Columbia will be filed this week in the Police Court against Joseph Evans, a constable of Alexandria county, and the defendant will surrender himself and give bond for his further appearance when required. The courts have held that the boundary of the District of Columbia was defined as extending to the high water mark on the Virginia shore.

The people of Alexandria county, however, have regarded this as a great hardship on them, as that county extends for ten miles along the Potomac river, opposite the District. Believing that under these circumstances they are not liable under the District laws, interested persons in Alexandria county have employed Attorneys Crandal Mackey, R. Walton Moore and Douglas Mackell to make a test case and fight it through the courts, event to the Supreme Court of the United States.

It is argued that the act of retrocession in 1846 gave to Virginia all the fishing rights in the Potomac river waters which she had by the treaty with Maryland before Alexandria county was given to the United States in 1789. Under that treaty with Maryland, it is stated, the people of Virginia had a right to fish in the river, and it is thought if those rights were returned to Alexandria county by the act of retrocession they cannot be curtailed or taken away by laws enacted for the District of Columbia.

Luna Park.

The coming Saturday night will terminate the Royal Berlin military Band's engagement at Luna Park, after which they depart for the Steel Pier, Atlantic City, where they are under contract to remain until the latter part of September. Renzetta and La Rue, who are presenting their famous "Thumps and Bumps" specialty on the hippodrome stage, are greatly enjoyed by all patrons of the park. The pantominic work of Renzetta convulses the audience at every performance. Tomorrow night, Mount Vernon Hive, No. 2, Maccabees of Washington, will visit the park. Last night aluminum discs on which are stamped numbers, entitling those who happen hold the right numbers to almost anything, from a season ticket to this popular resort to a building lot, were being distributed. The Council of Jewish Women, of this city, gave their annual excursion to Luna Park yesterday.

Fined Ten Dollars.

Considerable excitement was caused late yesterday evening in the southern section of the city by the disorderly conduct of a man named Raymond Wilson, who while drunk was aggressive and threatening. It was said that he was armed with a knife. He finally became involved in a fight with a neighbor which attracted the attention of many people in the neighborhood. Officers Jones and Henderson appeared and took charge of Wilson, and a large crowd followed the officers and the prisoner to the station house. The accused was brought before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning and fined $10.

Police Court.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Raymond Wilson, charged with being drunk and disorderly conduct, was fined $10.

Eugene Anderson, colored, charged with stealing copper, was fined $5.

Chas. Bell, colored, charged with petit larceny, had his case continued until tomorrow.

A white man charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

Caton acted as secretary. Mr. Ernest Demaine was elected a member of the association. No action was taken in reference to the banquet which it is proposed to hold early in the fall. Secretary J. Randall Caton, of the local association, has received a letter from J. M. Page, the general secretary, stating that arrangements have been made to take all alumni who attend the university commencement June 11 to the Jamestown Exposition the following day.

New Highway Bridge.

The work of laying the granolithic driveway and sidewalks on both sides of the new bridge over the tidal basin at Washington is being pushed vigorously, and will be completed within a few days. The new concrete bridge, which is part of the new Highway bridge system, is also rapidly approaching completion. The tracks that will be used by the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon and other electric railways crossing the bridge are now being laid, and when the rails are in position, it is stated that the laying of the asphalt paving will then be completed.

Won the Medal.

Mr. Ralph McBurney, of Alexandria, was the successful contestant for the declaimer's medal at the Maury Literary Society's celebration held in the college chapel on May 31st at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg. There were a number of contestants for this medal which is given annually, but Mr. McBurney's excellent expression and the life which he gave to his selection completely captivated the judges, Hon. H. L. Maynard, Mr. Lawrence Priddy and Mr. George Surface.

River Notes.

The three-masted schooner W. O. Goodman is loading railroad ties at a wharf between King and Prince streets.

There is a strong current in the river, the result of the recent heavy rains.

The steamer Norfolk while making a landing at her wharf, foot of Prince street, yesterday evening collided broadside with the pier and was considerably damaged. The accident was caused by the strong current in the river.

Rectory Looted

The rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Norfolk, was entered by thieves Friday night and the occupants were drugged and robbed of $500 and many valuables. The rector, Rev. Dr. W. A. Barr, who has just accepted a call to Lynchburg, was away, attending the annual session of the Council of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, at Staunton, prior to going to Lynchburg. Mrs. Barr was in the house, with her brother, Frank Stringfellow; a young woman friend and an aged aunt, her plan being to leave Saturday for Lynchburg, her future home. The thieves rifled Mrs. Barr's packed trunk and got away with $300 in cash, just taken out of bank Friday; three diamond rings and several hundred dollars' worth of other jewelry, which Mrs. Barr had near her bed. The only jewely saved was that worn by the young woman occupying the room with the rector's wife. Two hundred dollars, the first payment made by the lessee of the Barr cottage at Virginia Beach, was likewise taken.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment, which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, cold, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumanic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by W. F. Creighton & Co. and Gibson & Timberman.

Fertilizer Trust Hearing.

The Department of justice has arranged that Judge Waddill of the United States district court of Virginia will grant a hearing in Richmond on July 10 on the action of the government to force nine of the officers of the fertilizer trust living in Virginia to answer an indictment returned against them in Tennessee. This indictment charged twenty-four officers of the fertilizer trust with violations of the trust laws of the country. These officers live in different parts of the South, and the government has had a tremendous fight to force them to Tennessee to stand trial on the indictments. In the first effort in that direction the government lost. If the Virginia defendants are required to answer to the indictments in the Tennessee courts the government will proceed in the same way against the defendants in other southern states.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Trouble of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys, as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

Three Thousand Machinists Strike.

Cleveland, O., June 3.—Failing to secure the nine-hour day demanded, 3,000 Cleveland machinists today obeyed the strike order of the International Union and left the shops. Union officials say the strike will be general by night and that many non-union men will go out. The metal trades' association, the organization of employers, refuse to deal with the men. The nine-hour-movement is national in its scope.

Stabbed While Protecting His Sister.

Mt. Vernon, O., June 3.—Leon Pierce aged 21, is today at the point of death from stab wounds received yesterday while endeavoring to protect his sister Lenora, aged 14. The girl came upon a man fishing who made remarks which badly frightened her. She ran back home and told her brother. Pierce went to the scene and as he was approaching the stranger drew a long knife from his pocket and slashed Pierce almost into ribbons before he dropped the knife and ran.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota, with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine, that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles, by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
